FLASHES OF LIFE SKETCHED IN BRIEF

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

"What an Outfit!"
Kansas City, Kas.—The transient Bureau clerk, Miss Lolita Appleton, hog-tired from handing out beans and bread to hundreds of hunger-stricken men and women, looked up in surprise.
"No," she repeated, "we have no barber shop."
The elderly hitch-hiker and his wife were amazed. The man said: "What an outfit—we can do better than this. Come, Elizabeth."

Under Orders?
Dallas—There are 74 candidates and as many angles to the race for a state legislative post here, but this one tops all:
Glenn Pricer, managing editor of the Dallas Dispatch, has announced his candidacy—opposing, among 73 others—the son of his publisher and "boss," Alfred O. Anderson.
Young Anderson works on an opposition paper!

A Sure Way
Sherman, Tex.—Jodie T. Lloyd stood on his one leg, shivered in his underclothes, and decided it wasn't worth it today.
Lloyd, convicted burglar, along with Lacy Wingfield, another inmate, attempted a jailbreak and was caught.
Jailer Walter Enlos crushed Lloyd's jailbreaking ambitions by removing his artificial leg and stripping him of all but underclothing.

Better Call It Off
Pittsburgh—Magistrate Anthony Lucas asked the prisoner caught in a bookie shop raid if he had made a bet.
"No, I didn't have time," was the answer.
"Humm," commented his honor, "in that case you saved $2, so how about turning it over to the court—just as if you had made the bet and lost?"
"All right with me, judge," said the man at the bar, "but I had a winner picked, so if I give you $2 you ought to hand me back $9, because that's what he paid."
Magistrate Lucas pondered a moment—and dismissed the case.

Wilds of New York
New York—A nature trail is to be constructed through the wilds of New York.
A "forest ranger" and lots of labels will keep apartment house dwellers from going astray in identifying exhibits ranging from sasaparilla to woodchuck holes. Poison ivy will be well marked "so the kids can learn to recognize it."
All this, the park department announced, will be in Alley Pond Park, on the long Island edge of the city.

Fireproof Nest
Owensboro, Ky.—These Owensboro birds must have heard about all-metal construction. Albert F. Laub was re-roofing a cupola atop a local hotel when he found a bird's nest made entirely of pieces of small wire. Not a twig nor a string was in it.

WOODSTOCK
Woodstock, Feb. 26—Members of the Missionary Society of the Methodist Church were entertained by Mrs. Eme Happy at her home on Thursday.
John Guber, an instructor at the Glens Falls CCC camp, spent last week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Judson Smith at the Ohayo Mountain home.
Mr. and Mrs. Henry Peper were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kirstead of West Hurley on Saturday.
Mrs. Henrietta Lumming is in New York, staying at the Times Square Hotel.
Mrs. Clara Geiser of the Geiser Gift Shop is in New York for a few days. She will attend a show and exhibit of special interest to gift shop owners.
Mrs. Edwina Sawyer has returned from a recent trip to New York.
Mrs. Foster Shultis of Bearville has been in rather ill health for several weeks. Mrs. Foster is well-known in fraternal circles and church work. She has many friends who regret to hear of her illness.
Mrs. Harvey Barnes recently returned from New York where she visited last week.
Mr. Brinkman returned last week from New York.
Mrs. W. O. Thompson returned on Friday from New York. While there she joined several theatre parties. She visited her niece, Miss Marcia Mulloy, well known here in the summer social crowd, who is now with the Kingsburys in Yonkers. Mrs. Thompson and Miss Mulloy lunched with Rosa Ladden Hanna, frequent visitor to Woodstock, and went to a theatre. Mrs. Thompson returned with much important information from the New York libraries concerning the handling of special art books.

The Legion Auxiliary is planning a party to be held in its rooms on Wednesday, February 27, at 8 p. m.
On Friday the Christian Endeavor Society attended a box social given at the Morris Street Baptist Church, Kingston. All those who attended had a very pleasant time.
Eight Woodstock Scouts attended the Scout rally in the Kingston Municipal building Saturday evening. Ten adults accompanied them. The Woodstock Scouts won third prizes in water landing and the obstacle race. They had prepared a demonstration of stretcher work but the sudden illness of one of the members necessitated the omission of the demonstration. Many Woodstock parents took their children to the rally which they found very instructive as well as entertaining.

Prayer" on Friday, March 8. They will hold a service suitable for the occasion at the parsonage.
Word comes from Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bradley in Florida that they enjoyed a very pleasant trip down and are having a grand time.
Mrs. E. M. Smith entertained at bridge last Wednesday afternoon.
The Level Club party on Thursday evening was a great success. Six tables of bridge were played, two of which were of auction and four of contract. Three tables of pinochle were played also.
Mr. and Mrs. Gray and son, Bobby, of New Jersey were week-end guests of Mrs. William Terwilliger.
Dr. and Mrs. Cranston entertained at contract bridge Saturday evening. Friends of the Rev. and Mrs. William Peckham of Newburgh are pleased to hear that the Rev. Mr. Peckham received a unanimous recall for his third year as pastor there.

CREEK LOCKS

Creek Locks, Feb. 25—M. Vance Hogan was here on Thursday.
Miss Sarah Le Fevre was removed on Wednesday to the home of Mrs. Mary Mack of Eddyville. Mrs. Vincent accompanied her to her new home.
Donald McEvoy has recovered from a mild attack of the German measles.
Mrs. Martha Weimar called on Mrs. George Sagar one day last week.
Henry Neher of Port Ewen, the live-wire salesman of electrical appliances, was a business caller in Creek Locks on Friday.
Word has been received from Detroit that Carl Leim, Sr., of Creek Locks, and Joseph Mikish have both secured a position in Detroit.
Mrs. Raymond Ackert and Mrs. Martha Weimar called on Mrs. Anna Walsh and Mrs. Vincent Coffey one day last week.
Mr. and Mrs. W. Ziegler of Lawrenceville and New Brunswick, N. Y., called on Mr. and Mrs. William Engleman last Sunday.
Mrs. Joseph Kostocki of this place and Mrs. Adam Busch of Eddyville spent a social afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Sigmund Shulhof recently.
Miss Bessie Kelly visited at the home of Mrs. Anna Walsh one day last week.
Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sagar took their little charges to see the picture, "David Copperfield," on Monday at the Broadway Theatre.
A new scholar, Arnold Shultis, has been enrolled in the Creek Locks School.
School closed on Washington's Birthday and reopened again on Monday, February 25.
Miss Edna Kelly spent Washington's Birthday, including the week-end, with her mother in Poughkeepsie.
Mr. and Mrs. Lester McEvoy entertained several friends on Monday evening.
Mrs. Vincent Coffey called on Mrs. George McEvoy, Sr., recently, and Mrs. Martha Weimar also called and is very glad to report Mrs. McEvoy is much improved.
Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sagar, also Mrs. Sigmund Shulhof were Kingston shoppers recently.
The 4-H Club members of the Creek Locks School are planning a minstrel show to raise funds to go to camp next summer. Further details will be published later.
Miss Mary Regan of Kingston paid a brief visit to her home here on Thursday.
Mrs. George Sagar and Miss Lilian Nelson called on Mrs. Martha Weimar on Thursday afternoon.

HIGHLAND PASTOR, MURT IN NEW YORK, IN HOSPITAL

Highland, Feb. 26.—Mrs. Herbert Killinder spent Sunday in Brooklyn, where she spent the day with her husband, the Rev. Herbert Killinder, who is a patient in the Methodist Hospital.
Mr. Killinder went to the city in the middle of the week to see his daughter, Miss Gladys Killinder, who accompanied her father Friday morning to the train when he was leaving to see his son, Charles, a student in school at Pennington, N. J. Miss Killinder turned shortly after saying goodbye to her father and saw a crowd gather. She retraced her steps to find him on the ground, bleeding about the face. Calling a taxi she had him taken to the hospital. He had sustained a bad cut below the right eye that required several stitches to close. He was not certain how he came to fall and will be a patient there until the end of the week.

W. A. STRANGE DEAD AFTER SIX DAYS OF A SECOND LIFE

Tyler, Tex., Feb. 26 (AP)—W. A. Strange, 71, is dead—six days after he had been pronounced "dead" by a physician who later started heart and lung action again with an adrenalin injection.

The former sheriff of Smith county died last night.
Last Wednesday Dr. Howard Bryant saw the man's heart and lung action stop while he lay on an operating table. An undertaker was summoned and an intern was left with the body.
Five minutes later Dr. Bryant returned to the room, injected adrenalin into the heart and breathing started again. For six days he breathed under an oxygen tent and physicians had expressed the belief he would regain his health.

Americans In Berlin Protest Nazi Action

Berlin, Feb. 26 (AP).—A bitter complaint of discrimination against American business was voiced in the American colony of Berlin today after publication of figures showing the United States' sales to Germany have declined in a year to one-sixth of their previous volume.

During that time, the figures disclose, the volume of United States exports to Germany has shrunk from $15,700,000 in January, 1934, to $2,600,000 last December. In the same period, German sales in the United States decreased from $6,500,000 to about $5,500,000.

In support of their charges of discrimination, Americans cited a wide variety of barrier arrangements which Germany has negotiated with business interests in other countries.

Under such agreements, it was pointed out, German manufactured products and other finished goods recently have been exchanged for 8,000 tons of Rangoon rice, 2,500 tons of Siamese rice, 12,500 Puerto Rican casings, $20,000 (about $100,000) worth of Australian wool, 55,000 sacks of Brazilian coffee and 30,000 tons of Chilean oats.

In the case of the United States, it is contended, the German economic ministry, with an eye to the vast American gold reserves, does everything possible to make Americans pay for goods bought in Germany with cash rather than in kind.

Republicans Hail Victory in Plan Of Lehman Insurance Compromise

Minority Leader Irving M. Ives Jubilant Over Governor's Acceptance of a Substitute Plan for Earlier Bill of State Operated Funds—Republican Barrage is Credited by Leader With Situation Which Brought About Important Changes.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 26 (AP).—Governor Lehman's acceptance of a compromise plan for workmen's compensation insurance was described by Assembly Republican Leader Irving M. Ives today as a "distinct victory for the Republican minority."

"The governor's action in scrapping his monopolistic state insurance fund plan is indicative of the legislative strength of the Republican minority," Ives said in a formal statement.

Ives' statement was the second in which the Republican minority has asserted confidence in its own strength this month.

"Early in the session when the governor cracked the whip and demanded that the Democratic majority in the legislature vote for his insurance plan, the Republican minority unleashed a barrage which exposed the fallacies of the proposal," Ives said.

"We pointed out that the state insurance fund was already marked by mismanagement. We declared that no one knew its actual financial condition."

"We showed that long delays characterized its payment of claims, and that these claims were enmeshed in hopeless tangles of red tape. We showed that jump sum settlements by the state fund were generally lower than the settlements made by private companies, and we emphasized the loss to the state in corporate taxes paid by insurance companies if the governor's plan became an accomplished fact."

Ives said the Republicans were not following "obstructionist tactics" in opposing the governor's plan, but were pointing out the bad features to the people.

"We suggested an alternative plan, providing for the insurance companies to set up a catastrophic reserve," he said.

"I am more than pleased that our suggested plan has not been adopted by the governor."

Several weeks ago a Republican attack on the state's failure to press the grade crossing elimination program was followed by an order from the public service commission to the railroads to proceed with 64 C projects. The Republicans claimed credit for prodding the commission into action.

The compromise insurance legislation designed to provide greater protection to injured workers under the workmen's compensation law is before the New York legislature today at the recommendation of Governor Herbert H. Lehman.

The proposal, effected after a compromise between the governor and insurance companies, is a substitute for the O'Brien-Canney measure introduced earlier in the session proposing to place all workmen's compensation in a state operated fund.

The new proposal requires insurance companies to contribute to two separate funds to insure injured workers of full payment of awards due them.

The measure provides:

(1) That the companies pay into a separate pool in the state insurance fund the amount fixed as judgment in connection with death benefit and permanent disability cases, the awards to be paid by the State Industrial Board instead of by companies over a period of 10 years as at present.

(2) That the companies pay into a private reserve fund one per cent of gross premiums until a $3,000,000 peak is reached, the fund to be used to pay injured workmen in event a company defaults.

It was estimated the companies will contribute to the reserve fund at the rate of $400,000 a year. Of the total amount, the stock companies will pay $2,300,000 and the mutual concerns $700,000.

Legislative leaders predicted swift enactment of the bill.

Service Club Met

Miss Jessie Goodsell was hostess to the members of the Service Club of the Roundout Presbyterian Church on Monday evening at her home, 12 Green street. The speaker of the evening was Dr. Elizabeth Parsons of Malden Lane, who gave an interesting talk on salmon fishing and life in Newfoundland. During the evening refreshments were served by Miss Goodsell assisted by Mrs. H. L. Van Deusen, Mrs. Webster Crane and Mrs. Oscar Goodsell. The club arranged plans for the card party to be held Saturday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Frederick Stephan, 59 West Chester street.

Former New Palts Man Weds

New York, Feb. 25 (Special).—James Joseph Pilkington, 22, a former resident of New Palts now of 245 Kingsland avenue, Lyndhurst, N. J., and Miss Ruth Elizabeth Wagstaff, 20, of 377 Kingsland avenue, Lyndhurst, obtained a license to wed at the Municipal Building here this afternoon and said they would be married at once by the Rev. Spencer. Mr. Pilkington, who was born in New Palts, is the son of Frederick and Mary George Pilkington. His bride, who was born in Jersey City, N. J., is the daughter of John and Mary McHugh Wagstaff.

Twentieth Century Club

The Twentieth Century Club held its meeting this week at the Governor Clinton Hotel. The roll call was "Quotations from the Authors considered." Mrs. Walker gave a valuable account of the Educational Forum sponsored by the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs held on February 19 at the Palatine Hotel at Newburgh. Announcement was made of the open meeting of The Federation of Women's Clubs to be held on March 16. Sorosis being the entertaining club. The first paper for the day on "Pearl Buck," was admirable given by Mrs. Walker and was followed by a second paper of equal interest on "Jane Addams," given by Mrs. Cranston. The next meeting of this club will be with Mrs. Wood.

Sorosis

Sorosis met on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ramsey. Mrs. Graham gave a concise report of the recent executive committee meeting of the Federation of Women's Clubs, and Mrs. Harry P. Van Wageningen gave a very interesting account of the Educational Forum of the N. Y. State Federation of Women's Clubs.

Government Tries To Prove Mellon Control

Pittsburgh, Feb. 26 (AP).—Government counsel tried to prove today from Andrew W. Mellon's own records that he never lost control of millions of dollars worth of securities which he bestowed as gifts with his family.

The legal route traversed by the stocks and bonds after Mellon gave them away was traced by Howard M. Johnson, Mellon's secretary, under questioning by Attorney Robert H. Jackson at Mellon's $2,000,000 income tax inquiry.

Jackson, representing the bureau of Internal Revenue, brought out that within two months after the gifts were made the stocks reached the portfolio of the Consolidated Company, holding concern for the Mellon family.

Johnson said that early in 1922, the three-time secretary of the treasury gave his children stocks costing $12,963,000 and that this was transferred to the books of the Consolidated Company with their value computed at $22,944,000. The government claims this transaction occurred shortly before the gift tax went into effect.

Warms License Taken Away By Authorities

Washington, Feb. 26 (AP).—The master's license of Captain William F. Warms, who was acting skipper of the Ward liner Morro Castle when it was destroyed by fire off the Jersey coast, has been revoked, the commerce department has been advised, by its local inspectors in New Haven, Conn.

Warms was tried before two United States steamboat inspectors recently in New York in connection with the disaster.

Under the law, he may apply for a chief mate's license at the end of 90 days.

The New Haven inspectors also suspended Eben S. Abbott, Morro Castle chief engineer, for 90 days, beginning February 25, and Antonio R. Bujia, first assistant engineer, for 30 days beginning February 25.

At the end of the suspension periods in the latter two cases they automatically regain their papers unless some other action is taken.

"LATE CHRISTOPHER BEAN" AT NEW PALTZ NORMAL

On February 28 at 8:15 p. m., in the New Palts Normal School will be given the Dramatic Club play of the year, "The Late Christopher Bean," by Sidney Howard.

This presentation is anticipated as being the best ever given by the Dramatic Club. The cast has been selected wholly on merit, each member having had much experience in play work.

The cast is as follows: William Heltman Susan Hagggett, Dorothy Dreher Abby, Catherine Gilmarlin Mrs. Hagggett, Marjorie Horning Ada Hagggett, Marjorie Bates Warren Creamer, Edward Carlin Tallant, David Jacobson Rosen, Joseph Smith Davenport, Alfred Demarest.

Auxiliary Anniversary

St. Remy Feb. 26—The fourth anniversary of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the St. Remy Fire Department was celebrated Saturday evening February 16 at the firehouse. At this time the newly elected officers were installed by Chief Phil Fischer.

The officers are as follows: Mrs. P. Fischer, president; Mrs. A. Pokorney, vice president; Mrs. A. Nichols, secretary; Mrs. J. Frost, treasurer. The ladies presented a gift which was received in behalf of the firemen by Chief Fischer. He thanked the ladies for their splendid cooperation and wished them success. Each officer was presented with beautiful red and white hand crocheted carnations by Mrs. J. Eckert. An old hat social was one of the evening's sports. J. Eckert, P. Pokorney and A. Longyear were the prize winners. Several games were played. A pot-luck supper was served by the ladies. A pleasant evening was enjoyed by all present.

Atkins-Ronk

Clinchdale, Feb. 26—A quiet wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Ronk of Hill avenue on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock when Miss Nellie Ronk became the bride of Tracer Atkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Abram Atkins of New Hurley. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. B. Russell Branson, pastor of the Clinchdale Friends Church in the presence of the immediate family. They were attended by Miss Virginia Finch of Ardona, niece of the bride, and Herbert Ronk, brother of the bride. This is their second marriage and both have one child. The couple will make their home in Clinchdale where the groom is employed at the Clinchdale cold storage plant. A skimming fund was tendered the couple by the young folk of the village on Wednesday night and on Thursday evening the firemen tendered them a celebration. Both are well known here and have many friends who wish them every success and happiness.

North's Car Crashes Into Store Window

Sobsey Auto Store Front Smashed In Crash and Car Damaged Considerably—Three Automobiles Involved in Collision.

An accident involving three automobiles resulted in the crash of the display window of the Sobsey Auto Accessory store, 770 Broadway, Monday evening, and considerable damage to one of the cars.

Information obtained by the police states that Roscoe North of Stone Ridge was proceeding north on Broadway in his car, which collided with that of Andrew Keefe, 30 Lafayette avenue, which was being driven by Donna J. Keefe, his daughter.

The jolt caused the Keefe car to sidewise the auto of Thomas S. Phillips, 111 Gage street, proceeding south on Broadway, near the curb.

Then the North car apparently got out of control and ran over the sidewalk, crashing into the Sobsey store on the corner of Broadway and Liberty street. The impact wrecked the window and damaged the auto to the extent that it had to be towed to Doc Smith's Garage.

No arrests were made.

Stick-up Suspect Given 10 Days In Jail

Brooklyn Man Arrested on Suspicion by Patrolman Reardon Sentenced For Vagrancy—Taken Into Custody to Foll Probable Theatre Robbery.

Frank Higgins, the 29-year-old Brooklyn man arrested Saturday night for vagrancy by Patrolman William J. Reardon, was sentenced to 10 days in the Ulster county jail this morning by City Judge Bernard A. Culliton.

Higgins was taken into custody as a suspect by the officer, who had been notified that the Broadway Theatre, on his post, was "spotted" by stick-up men who might try to rob the box-office after they thought enough cash had been taken in.

Questioning Higgins outside the theatre, Patrolman Reardon found that he had purchased a ticket with money given to him by another stranger. "He asked me to help him check on how many went in," Higgins told the officer. "And he bought me a meal." Higgins did not go into the show, but tried to have the money refunded for the ticket. Satisfied that Higgins was not a holdup man, the policeman further questioned him about his travels and found that he had been released from the Catskill jail last week. He had no visible means of support and was charged with vagrancy.

Yesterday, when Higgins was arraigned in city court, Judge Culliton postponed the imposing of sentence until today, so that he might further investigate the case of the stranger as to any criminal record.

Burton Haver of 299 Main street was arrested this morning for parking in front of a fire hydrant on Wall street, near John street. Judge Culliton adjourned his case until Thursday to give Patrolman Raymond Van Buren a chance to be in court to explain the cause of arrest.

Repealists Chalk Four Victories, Voting Held

(By The Associated Press)

Repealists chalked up victories in four states today while Alabama decided what to do with its 20-year-old dry laws.

Three questions, including modification of present laws, manufacture and sale of beer and wine and the manufacture and sale of hard liquor, were before the Alabama electorate. A vote of more than 175,000 was indicated.

Governor H. G. Kump of West Virginia last night signed that state's liquor control bill, creating a state monopoly, effective March 1.

Rival liquor legalization measures were passed by the Arkansas House and Senate. Both propose package liquor sales but are different in many ways.

The Texas state Senate committee on constitutional amendments approved a constitutional amendment to eliminate Texas' 16-year-old prohibition clause. The amendment would authorize the legislature to regulate the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquor.

The Georgia House late yesterday approved a bill providing a referendum and local option. It was sent to the Senate.

The Texas relief commission distributed canned beef put up at the Texas prison system's canning plant.

THE UNIT HOUSE

Experimentation in housing design is stimulated by the need for comfortable low-cost homes and by the modernistic trend which has influenced everything from art to locomotives. The unit plan house is one of the current experiments. In this house there is a basic unit to which other units may be added as needed. Unit No. 1 consists of a living room, dining room, kitchen and garage. Bedrooms and bathrooms are added to this as required by the size of the family. Other rooms may follow as there is use for them.

An interesting fact about this and many other experiments is that the latest conveniences and comforts are included in the original plans. For example, in the unit plan house a moth-proof storage room of ample proportions opens off the hall which leads to the bedrooms. It is a very up-to-date and improved version of the old catch-all attic. There are built-in drawers and closets in bedrooms. The kitchen is a light and airy room arranged for the ease, efficiency and what is more surprising—the pleasure of the worker. Good ventilation is provided in both kitchen and living room.

Apparently the inexpensive home of the future is going to be as comfortable and convenient as the luxurious home, even when it is small in size. That, at least, is the aim of many of the housing experiments today.

KITES AND POWER LINES.

More electric power means more electric power lines. They, in turn, bring a problem which Benjamin Franklin might have thought of for himself, but which children need to be taught about today. Says the manager of a California power company:

With the coming of spring each year, kite flying season again rolls around. And each year the electric companies, telephone companies and street car companies throughout the country again stress the warning that children should keep their kites away from the overhead lines.

Then follows specific advice. First, keep away from such lines entirely, if possible. If a kite does become entangled in electric wires, no child ever should attempt to climb a pole or do anything to get it down. Call the company involved, and linemen with power equipment will take the kite from the lines. Disregard of this rule might cause a short circuit, break wires which would fall to the ground and injure or kill anyone they touched.

It is also urged that no metal or metallized cord be used in making or flying kites. Any intelligent boy should know why. Kite string should not be used when damp because it then becomes a conductor of electricity.

GOLD WON'T CIRCULATE

It is said that suits may still be brought against the government for damages, by claimants taking advantage of a loophole left by the Supreme Court decision, "In case of the return of gold to circulation."

The bondholders may as well indulge in no such golden hopes. The nation's gold is safely stored away in the vaults of the United States Treasury, and there it will stay, like a sacred relic in a church.

This simile might be carried as far as anyone likes. Gold is still a sort of mundane religion to most people. They will still have faith in money related to gold, however distantly, as long as they know the gold is there.

CONGRESSIONAL BLUES.

We're ready to believe anything, even, one of the Washington news men says there's less blubber lately in Congress. The congressmen are cutting down on their stage plays because "they are becoming too realistic at last that the old-fashioned blubber doesn't get over with the voters."

the way it used to." It may be true in the House. Most of us haven't noticed it in the Senate. Oratory and drama seem to flourish in that chamber lately as much as ever.

Yet there is a perceptible change even in that voluble body. When it comes to "telling 'em," the home folks now seem to be taking the situation in hand and telling the senators more effectively than the senators are telling them. The public, or at least such part of it as can be marshalled by radio orators, is riding high, wide and handsome. If Congress wants to hold its own, perhaps it will have to go on the air itself. And if it does, its technique will have to improve.

INTRODUCING AMERICA.

A foreign-born maid, newly arrived in the United States and eager to learn all about America, asked her mistress how to start. "The mistress suggested she read 'Uncle Tom's Cabin.' It seems a strange recommendation.

More practical suggestions can easily be given. If the foreigner plans to become an American citizen, there may be Americanization classes or night schools available. If there is a Y. W. C. A. in the community, with its International Institute, the foreigner could join it and get acquainted with America in a group of young people all bent upon the same goal.

A little help in reading the daily newspaper intelligently wouldn't be a bad idea, either. Direction to a few points of interest in the community, to museums, free public lectures, and so on, should be useful.

ANGINA PECTORIS.

So many middle-aged apparently healthy individuals died of angina pectoris during the past few years that very intense investigation is being made as to its cause.

You perhaps know of the symptoms—a tight gripping sensation in the region of the breast bone, a feeling of impending death, the need of stopping suddenly as further movement seems impossible.

It was this need for immediate stopping of anything that was being done, walking for instance, that gave research physicians the idea that it was lack of oxygen in the blood supplying the muscles of the heart that caused the "tight" feeling and often collapse.

And as we remember our younger days when we ran a certain distance we got a "tight" feeling in the chest. By running more slowly or walking for a while we got what we called our "second wind" and were then able to continue at the old pace. This was because we got our breathing adjusted to the needs of our blood for oxygen.

Thus we find Marathon runners and long distance swimmers adjust their breathing to a certain number of steps or strokes so that the lungs can supply the blood with the necessary amount of oxygen to keep the muscles of the body and all the other muscles of the body also, properly supplied. When they find themselves getting slightly out of breath they lessen their speed slightly until the blood gets enough oxygen into it again.

The point then regarding those with angina pectoris is that they should not exercise beyond the oxygen of the heart. Similarly it is felt that large meals should not be eaten as they require a large amount of oxygen to burn them up in the body, thus lessening the amount in the blood itself. Further, the pressure from the large meal in the stomach, sometimes with considerable gas formation, also interferes with the small vessels that carry blood to the heart muscle.

It would seem then that with cases of angina pectoris and also with cases of actual disease of the heart muscles or its valves, lessening the amount of exercise and eating small amounts of food at one time would lessen the amount of oxygen the heart muscle needs, and so prevent these "gripping" symptoms in the chest.

Montana Rides Again

A RAPID-FIRE ROMANCE BY EVAN EVANS.

SYNOPSIS: The Montana Kid and another Pascual enter the Valley of the Dead to try to rescue Mateo Rubiz, condemned to die himself to death in his blistering heat. Montana has just been submitted to a gruesome test by Juan-Rubiz, master of the valley, and has emerged victor. Pascual has been put to work in the fields; now he has the brutal treatment of the prisoners at the end of their day's unendurable labor.

Chapter 40

MATEO

THE guards lassoed the first man to bolt from line, threw him flat on his face, and beat his back raw with their whips. Afterwards they threw him inside the threshold, since he was not able to walk, and over that prone body the rest of the condemned stumbled.

Once inside, each man made for a bunk. In a desperate scramble. These bunks rose in tiers of five deep, with narrow aisles between them. The whitest of the strongest took the lowest bunks, not because they were simply easier to reach, but because during the night the foul stench of humanity kept rising in the air.

But many who lagged too far behind in the general rush got no place whatever for the night. And most of those who failed were the men who had been in the valley so long that the labor, the climate, the frightful food, had worn them to a frazzle.

"Who says that a friar is here?"

What the friar could see made him drop to his knees. He was still praying when a bull-toned voice bellowed through the room: "Who says that a friar is here? Who says that a big man, a giant, a priest or a friar, is here with us?"

The friar leaped from his prayer to his feet.

"Mateo!" he cried. He heard a grunting answer, and then the thumping of heavy foot-falls. Towards that sound he hurried in turn. And suddenly the tremendous grasp of Mateo Rubiz was on him. He put his huge arms around the bandit and crushed him with an embrace. It was like hugging a huge, rounded barrel.

"How have they brought you here? The dog Estrada—was it he? Answer me, brother—Mateo—my friend—"

"I came with El Keed, to find you, Mateo."

"To find—me? Here? You came willingly? Willingly do you say, Pascual?"

"Ay, willingly."

"And El Keed—he is here? Where is he?"

"In the hands of Juan-Silva."

"San Juan of Capistrano, forget all my prayers. Remember only this: last one—let the hands of El Keed close on the windpipe of the devil, Juan-Silva!"

Rubiz began to beat his breast with his great hands.

"What have I done that God should be so good to me?" he said. He recovered his voice a little and went on: "But I told you—I have always told you, Pascual—that the saints had marked me out for a great thing. Otherwise, why should they have given me two such friends as you and El Keed?"

Mateo cried out as though in pain. "Now I am ready to die!" he said. "It would be better to pray, brother," said the friar. "Pray for El Keed!"

"I shall pray," said Mateo Rubiz. "And yet I have a better hope than prayer. For the three of us—what fools they were to let the three of us come into this one valley! We shall find things to do. Do you doubt that?"

"I know that the mind of El Keed is never quiet. It stirs even at night. I have heard him call out softly in his sleep. Sometimes of horses, sometimes of guns, or of gambling, or the name of a gringo girl or Rodas!"

"May a curse—" began Rubiz. "Peace, brother," commanded the friar, with a certain austerity. "She

Old Timer Discusses Trees and Their Uses

Shokan, Feb. 25.

Editor, The Freeman:

Not exactly balmy weather today but more moderate than has been and therefore welcome to an old timer such as I am. Still at my woodpile and heve now quite sum ahead against another cold spell. I pile green chunks up behind the settin' room stove; the looks on 'em kinder gives out a comfortable feeling though Marthy allows it jest ain't done those days in the best season. Well, sir, a wood-box is okay, ez they say, fer to keep the smaller split wood but liftin' heavy chunks outen a box air quite likely to give an anseunt a right smart crack in the back. Besides, the big sticks dry out jest a little the way (piled up) & thus air better to ketch the fire and not go out arter folks hev gone to bed and let the geeraniums, etc., freeze afore mornin'.

I deerve considerable enjoyment from observin' a neat pile of wood, well ranked up, whether the same be indoors or out.

About Trees.

Hez it occurred to ye, Mr. Ed., they intrust in wood and trees is growin' by leaps and bounds in these U. S. A. What with all these here forestry camps and young fellers larnin' about trees, the public in general air getting intrusted ez perhaps never afore. Observe also, often ye please, how folks relished all the Happtan trial testimony about the ladder & garret floor boards, their whorls, & diffrent grain, and a so forth. Why, was one of the high spots uv the trial, so far at least.

Now I shouldn't call them slick lawyers wooden-headed, but they shore appeared to be wood-minded there fer a spell. (Ye hev heard of the successful stage show, "The Farmer Takes a Wife," well the above air supposed ter be a case of Farmer Makes a Pun. Ha, ha, ez they say. Yessir, trees and woods air mighty intriguing subjects, especially fer farmers, who naturally know more about 'em than the general run uv folks. Whatever them farmers out west do without a woodlot beats me; heer in Ulster Co. a feller would be lost in the winter time ef he couldn't putter around with axe & saw, chains and sleighs, stacking up firewood and sech-like.

So Many Kinds

So many diffrent kinds of wood, each one havin' like peepul, a leetle queerness all its own. Yessir, jest ez every mail & woman air a mite queer in sum respects, so hev trees their individual quirks called to make of 'em a highly intrustin' study. Take the average farmer woodpile, with a mixture of this & that, ez the farmer hez collected in going threw his woodlot and pickin' out stuff that air crooked, diseased, in sum way worthless, on the stump. Hickory, tough, and heavy, with heat value equal to coal, often seasoned fer two years and kept dry. Fine fer to make a wagon or sleigh tongue, hard to bust & with jest enuff spring fer rough drive and take where needed. Makes the best oxbows—the saplings steamed, bent almost double and tied they way fer to set. Hez a score of handy uses on the farm and will never fail ye often, tressed square. A big green hickory chunk will burn all night when laid on a good bed of live coals & will in turn present ye with just rate coals, come mornin' fer to ketch a new blaze on. I hev some, 50 feet without ary a limb and three feet across at butt, which would take a feller all day to work up inter logs and stovewood. Jim-dandy wood, fer a fact.

White Oak.

White oak: Most ez good ez hickory, generally speaking, and better in sum ways ez it hez a value fer lumber. Makes good pilin', boat planks, parlor floors & trim. Tough and sturdy, pleasant to look at and getting skurcer every year in this country. Soon won't be many white oaks. Rock, or chestnut oak: Better fer fuel than the white, but not much account fer lumber. Now is setting a blight, similar to the chestnut disease, and may peter out afore long. Thousends of cords air burned in your town every winter. Red, pin, yellow & black oak: all better fer lumber than fer fuel. Long, straight red oak, free from knots, air allus in demand fer pilin' and ez sech air skerce to find. The white oak is heaviest and toughest of this valuable family and hez the purest grain. I dunno how we could get along without the oak family in this country, though I suppose they manage to do so where the tree air not plentiful.

The Maples.

Maples: Sugar, or hard maple in course is king of this tribe. Fer fuel, hardly none better but roon rots with exposure. Hez the makings of the finest panache sirrup known to man, and that reminds me that I soon must be getting arter this late winter job. Rite heer, by the way, let me tell yourself & readers that maple sirrup is with all ye may fer it, no matter how much ye pay, often the same be genuine stuff. Most folks would be fair amazed ef told how much work, wood & railin' it goes inter one gallon of sirrup ex put on the market. Good, pleasant work, housewomern. Yessir, hard maple air probly our most valuable tree take it all in all. Wood handy fer odd jobs, though mighty tough to saw. Makes fast stone, good plank, flooring, wagon pieces, often painted & kept as butter bowls and what not. Soft maple, ez hez them parts huge in arid spring, makes good fuel when seasoned, a better bet fer small arid arid arid. Good fer hat poles in season, pole arid the beams in barn fer to store grain in the arid & the thrashed straw. Handy fer this and that. Green-maple, striped white and green bark: tolerably not much more than a sapling here. Party to look at with his bow and all but not much account.

From Wood.

From wood: ez near like iron ez a wood kin be. Tough arid the wood fer it. Ez good ez hickory fer sleds or wagon tongue and might be fer the store. Norrbam: some call it iron wood. Heavy with peculiar ribbed bark. Works up nice fer fuel but like ez not to be arid arid arid. Spreads out all over

A Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER

WASHINGTON—Backstage while pers in the capital hint that the relationship between the titular leaders of the republican minority in the senate and house is causing some concern.

There have been no indications that anything like an open break is threatening, but there have been rumors the leadership of the house is a bit impatient with that of the senate for its seeming reluctance to be more aggressive in bucking the administration.

It such be true, much of the blame must be attributed to the difference in the political philosophy of the two G. O. P. generals.

Snell of New York, the house leader, is representative of the conservative east.

McNary of Oregon, the senate leader, on the other hand, typifies the liberalism of the west—not to the extreme—but further to the left than Snell.

Real Tests To Come

THIS was why republicans in the house, led by the New Yorker, struck out so boldly in their opposi-

Romance comes to the girl who guards against COSMETIC SKIN

SMOOTH, LOVELY SKIN wins romance—and keeps it! So how foolish it is to let unattractive Cosmetic Skin destroy the loveliness that should be yours.

Cosmetics Harmless if removed this way

It is when cosmetics are not properly removed that they choke the pores—cause the ugly pore enlargement, tiny blemishes, blackheads, even—that are signs of Cosmetic Skin. That's why every day more and more women are adopting the screen stars' beauty care to guard against this danger. Lux Toilet Soap is especially made to remove cosmetics thoroughly. Its ACTIVE lather goes deep into the pores, gently removes every trace of dust, dirt, stale cosmetics.

To protect your skin—keep it lovely—use this care ALWAYS before you go to bed at night, and before you renew your make-up during the day. 9 out of 10 screen stars use Lux Toilet Soap!

OF COURSE I USE ROUGE AND POWDER, BUT I USE LUX TOILET SOAP SO FAITHFULLY I'LL NEVER HAVE COSMETIC SKIN

Sugar Maples Being Tapped in Mountains

Shokan, Feb. 25.—The season for the flowing of maple sap again is at hand in the Ashokan Reservoir country. Trees are being tapped for the "first run" and one local farmer already has made a gallon of delicious, clear syrup from maple trees near his house. There have been several hard frosts, though the weather during the last few days has been too cold for ideal sugar bush operations. Still there have been few days this month when that mysterious up and down movement of the sap of the hard maple tree has not taken place, if only for an hour or two in the middle of the day. For the calendar winter is now on the wane, and Nature times her annual miracles so closely that even a brief burst of sunshine from a clouded sky will quicken the sensitive pulse of the maple and cause the sap to ascend. Farmers, chopping at the butts of these rugged trees in the woods on a sunny morning in early February have observed this phenomenon. Storms and extreme cold may discourage the awakening but Nature will not be denied for long. And so, the opportunity for cashing in on the first run of sap must be taken as it variously comes, with the chances for success quite likely to be good, bad or indifferent, according to the general run of weather.

Early Days

Older residents of this section at the approach of maple syrup time are wont to recall pleasantly the sugar bushes which dotted that part of the Esopus Valley now lying under the waters of the great reservoir. Scores of persons residing in all parts of the county in fact can picture in the mind's eye this phase of their earlier life in the towns of Olive and Hurley. Lewis Shaw of Katrine, for instance, could tell one all about the famous maple grove of the late DeWitt C. Davis, as operated near the Shaw home at Sand Hill for approximately half a century. The Davis grove was typical though it was generally conceded that its owner excelled in the art of syrup making and therefore his stand of fine old trees was more famed throughout Northern Ulster than many larger groves of heavy and profitable production. Quality, then as today, was an item that invariably made reputations in maple products, and no one has been heard to say that Squire Davis' syrup was not clear and mellow looking, or that his sugar bush evidenced of containing too many particles of wood ashes from the firebed beneath the sap pans. Thus it is, that the Davis sugar bush, now on New York city property across the north boulevard from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Davis' surviving daughter, Mrs. Golden Van Benschoten, has become a pleasing tradition—one of the many that shine consistently and clearly through the mist of years since the gigantic waterworks upheaval which dispersed hundreds of residents to scores of other communities.

DeWitt C. Davis

DeWitt C. Davis thoroughly enjoyed the pleasant labor incident to his annual sugar bush operations in February and March; a versatile man and a busy one (his public offices included judge of sessions, town supervisor, coroner, assessor, pension agent, justice of the peace, pathmaster, etc., not to mention the duties of school teacher, lieutenant of militia, Sunday school superintendent, surveyor and mapper, church officer, historian and whatnot) he nevertheless found time each winter and early spring to get out his sap buckets and pans and cooperate with nature in producing one of the most delectable of sweets known to man. Having lost the fingers of his right hand in a saw-mill accident early in life, he was obliged to have assistance in a part of his work, and many a boy and man responded eagerly to the call to help "Uncle Clint" in that sunny grove along the brook and under the shelter of a bank, near Sand Hill. Older men, veterans of the Civil War for instance, found especial delight in totting sap from the trees and tending the roaring fires at the boiling shack. And the squire, having boiled down his sap to that irreducible minimum consistent with pluperfect quality, and having completed the process with a finesse that is derived only from many years of studious experience, was finally nothing loath to carry a gallon of his A-1 syrup down the hill into Shokan to fill an order from some favored Shokan customer. There were years, long ago, when a dollar a gallon represented the rate of compensation for all the arduous work connected with syrup making—hard-earned money indeed—yet so firmly had the thrift angle of this farm side-line become implanted in our sons of the soil that the industry was general in those days, despite the small returns. But for that matter, even today we have farmers come down the valley from Delaware county in the fall and peddle out their hold-over syrup at a dollar and a half a gallon. Money, to the farmer, ever has been an elusive something which must be seized upon at opportune seasons, in whatever amounts available and from many products sold in varying quantities. Records are available which show that Mr. Davis began tapping his sugar bush in 1870, continuing each year up until about the time of the beginning of reservoir construction in 1907, or shortly after that time. His early tapping in the year 1870 took place on February 15, in 1871 on the 25th, in 1872 on the 13th, in 1873 on the 8th, while in 1874 the first boiling did not take place until March 2 (probably one of those old-fashioned winters we still have once in a while). Thus it went, down through the years, with blizzards occasionally disrupting the program, as in 1895 when conditions were so bad that it was not until March 23rd that Golden and Nick VanBenschoten tapped the bush. It paid to wait, however, as the first day's run on this occasion was 16 pails of sap which boiled down to a gallon and a half of syrup. Sometimes it was Mr. VanBenschoten who helped with the syrup making in his father-in-law's bush, again it was some other Shokan man who had a few days to spare from his regular duties. Irwin P. Winne, a Civil War veteran and a grandfather of Stanley Winne of Kingston; Sol Markle, now of Fleischmanns; Clark and Lewis Shaw; Chase Davis, a nephew of the squire; John DuBois, an old soldier and the father of Mrs. Ella Secor of Kingston, as well as many others found pleasure in the work. A majority of these men and boys have passed on to their reward, but the old sugar bush still towers proudly above the accumulated thickets, and the sap season is here again, to the delight of sundry small boys and not a few of their elders.

GAS BUGGIES—Speaking Out of Turn.

Coldest January In Past 10 Years

Ithaca, N. Y., Feb. 26.—January of this year was the coldest January since 1925, averaging nearly three and one-half degrees below normal, according to the weather bureau of the United States Department of Agriculture at Cornell. The lowest temperature recorded during the month was 42 degrees below zero at North Lake, and also at Stillwater reservoir. Sunshine for the month averaged 37 per cent, which is slightly more than normal. Rainfall averaged three-fourths of an inch above normal, with the heaviest in the eastern plateau, the Mohawk Valley, the upper Hudson valley, and the northern plateau. Snowfall averaged better than five inches above the normal amount. "Warm weather early in the month caused a thaw, and flood waters from swollen rivers and creeks inundated streets and highways in several sections of the state. Damage was confined mostly to flooded cellars, while automobile traffic was hindered to some extent. High winds prevailed in Buffalo and vicinity on the 17th. The city suffered minor property damage, and about 125 telephone poles were blown down in outlying districts. Air traffic was at a standstill at the Buffalo airport. Heavy snow fell on the 23rd in the lower Hudson valley and on Long Island. Four deaths were reported in New York as a result of the storm. Main highways were in fair condition the greater part of the month."

Events Around The Empire State

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Feb. 26 (AP).—When a dog bites a man's false teeth, it's a lawsuit.

John E. Dorgan appeared in city court today asking $75 damages of Fire Captain Joseph J. McMahon because the latter's dog mistook the Dorgan dental plate for a bone.

McMahon, it is alleged, left the dog with Dorgan and paid $5 for its keep while he took a holiday. During one of the nights the dog is alleged to have retrieved the teeth from a stand and chewed 'em up.

Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 26 (AP).—A tentative Niagara frontier improvement program calling for an estimated $155,000,000 was submitted today by the Niagara frontier planning board to the New York state planning board and state PWA officials in Albany.

If approved by the state bodies the program, details of which have not been made public, will be presented to the Federal PWA.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 26 (AP).—Safely past the lower house despite stubborn Republican opposition, Governor Herbert H. Lehman's bill to set up a commission to study state aid to municipalities today was before the senate of the legislature. The measure was approved by the assembly last night by an 82 to 51 vote.

Hudson Falls, N. Y., Feb. 26 (AP).—Funeral services were held today for Mrs. Kate Kellogg Carelton, 62, who died Sunday night in her apartment in the Carelton Hotel.

She had been prominent in civic and club activities in this city. Mrs. Carelton had been ill for several days prior to her death.

NATURAL LAXATIVE FOOD WINS NATION

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Helps
Millions to Regular Habits

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is one of the most popular laxative foods in the country today. Millions have found it thoroughly satisfactory for correcting constipation due to insufficient "bulk" in meals.

In addition to its popular approval, ALL-BRAN has been accepted by science. Research shows it offers mild "bulk" to aid elimination. Also vitamin B and iron.

The American Medical Association Committee on Foods has granted Kellogg's ALL-BRAN its Seal of Acceptance. This delicious cereal is also approved by Good Housekeeping Institute.

Within the body, ALL-BRAN forms a soft mass which readily clears out the intestinal wastes. More effective than the "bulk" in fruits and vegetables, as it does not break down in the body.

Isn't this food better than patent medicines? Unlike cathartics, it remains effective with continued use. Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. Chronic cases, with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. ALL-BRAN is much more satisfactory than part-bran products. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

BARBARA BELL FASHION PATTERNS

Pattern No. 1601-B

Prints Add Chic to Matron's Daytime Frock

Spring frocks, with long straight lines, are an advantageous fashion for the nose too slender figure. In the new collections we find this classic style expressing modernness of spirit in the discreet use of printed trimmings.

For those first warm days when we shed our winter coats nothing smarter will be worn than these simple, tailored coat-frocks. The one pictured is a type strongly featured for spring and summer. It is seen in a wide range of fabrics—particularly the ones that tailor well, and keep in press easily.

Solid colors—dark and becoming—are a safe choice for fuller figures. Concessions to the current enthusiasm for prints are made in touches of it at the neck and sleeves. This model takes on a jaunty, spring-like air through the smartness of the print rever falling softly beneath the solid one.

The skirt is plain in the back and has a deep pleat, stimulating a wrap-around, at the side front. Sleeves are modishly cut, and finished with distinctive cuffs of the print.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1601-B is designed in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50, 52 and 54. Size 36 requires about 4 1/2 yards of 39 inch material; 1/4 yard of contrast.

Tomorrow: A new trend in cruise frocks.

MODES of the moment

Fashion presents a dream in black and white—a wispy-jacketed formal gown.
Liana Marwin

These sheer filmy jackets can back, and the self belt is fastened with a glittering rhinestone buckle. Two very feminine bows of white they serve their purpose in giving mousseline de sole add excitement to that added touch of smartness to the gowns for evening wear.

With the spring season at hand, colorful prints take the spotlight. Now for the jacket—call it "froth," "foam," or what you will—white is one that the smart woman it still remains a very important part of the costume. White "mousseline de sole" fashions it and the self ruch above is done in black crepe, along the neckline and sleeves.

The gown of the costume pictured strikes a frivolous note in this very floor slightly, with fulcrums at the charming costume.

PORT EWEN PEELEIS TO GIVE "LOOK WHO'S HERE", MARCH 1

Port Ewen, Feb. 26.—Friday evening in the Methodist Episcopal Church house in Port Ewen the Peeler Dramatic Club of the Methodist Church will present a three-act comedy entitled "Look Who's Here".

The curtain is scheduled to rise on the first act at 8 o'clock.

"Look Who's Here", written by Charles George, is a play of comical complications centered around an eccentric old lady by the name of Aunt Alice Bainbridge and her young nephew, Lyman Winchell.

Aunt Alice, who has definite ideas against marriage, supports Lyman by a monthly allowance on the strict proviso that he never marries.

Lyman however has married an extravagant girl by the name of Estelle without Aunt Alice's knowledge.

The real situation occurs when just previous to a dinner party at Lyman's house, Aunt Alice unexpectedly puts in her appearance from France where she has spent the major part of her later life endeavoring to recover from a minor ailment.

The scenes that follow when Lyman tries by the aid of his wife and his pal, Tommy Rotanah, to prove to both his Aunt Alice and his dinner guests that he is a bachelor are uproarious. After a series of complications the play finally comes to a successful climax with Aunt Alice acknowledging Lyman's marriage and substantially increasing his allowance.

The cast for "Look Who's Here" is as follows:

Aunt Alice ..... Lois Jump

Lyman Winchell, her nephew ..... Roger Mable

Estelle Winchell, his wife ..... Harriet Clark

Tommy Rotanah, Lyman's pal ..... Leslie L. Munson

Grace Sterling, Tommy's fiancée ..... Betty Tinner

Rose Stanford, a girl friend ..... Elaine Short

Rene Andrews, a girl friend ..... Dorothy Atkins

Jimmy, a delivery boy ..... Gordon Clark

Jennie, a maid ..... Mary Tlanie

GREAT RICHES

by Mateel Howe Farnham

Author of "Wild Beauty" . . . "Rebellion" . . . "Marsh Fire" . . . AND "Lost Laughter"

JAMES was born a Stimson.. When you said that in

New Concord you said just about the last word on pedigree. So when marrying time came, something of a contest developed . . a contest involving family plans to make sure that the future Mrs. Stimson would be the right one. His choice . . Jane Northrup, patrician daughter of the little Kansas town's richest man . . . Jane with blood as blue as

James', with her practical, dominating ways? .. Or the gentle Leslie Harris, who knows when it is wise to flatter, when best to admire . . . and to lean?

With a sureness of touch demonstrated in her previous works, MATEEL HOWE FARNHAM builds the situation up swiftly to a surprising denouement. Kansas-born herself, she knows the state to which she turns for the setting of her newest novel. A human story, entertainingly told.

At The Theatres

Today

Broadway: "Society Doctor." Virginia Bruce, Chester Morris, Billy Burke and Robert Taylor work hard in this story which pits youth against old age in the constant battle against disease. It is the story of life as it is won and lost in the confines of a metropolitan hospital. It moves in interesting fashion through the routine of hospital life, dips into the lives of doctors, internes and nurses, has several moments of lively comedy and many minutes of real and gripping suspense, and one especially effective scene in the operating room. Directed by George B. Seitz, this play is interestingly done from every standpoint, with the exception of occasional moments of needless melodrama.

Orpheum: "One Night of Love." The beauty of Grace Moore's incomparable voice makes this musical novelty one of the outstanding successes of the past year. And an exceptionally gifted supporting group of players combine with Miss Moore's singing to create a colorful story of a girl who goes to Italy to study under one of the masters of voice culture, who falls in love with him, and how through his influence she rises to be the sensation of Europe and the United States. Tullio Carminati almost steals the show with a brilliant characterization and Lyle Talbot is also importantly cast.

Kingston: "The Gay Bride." All about a gold digger on the loose for a rich husband. She gets all mixed up with gangsters during her efforts to feather her nest, and these gangsters kill off one another for her favors. One of them played by Chester Morris, survives the gunplay and wins the girl. There is a lot of plot in this one, numerous speedy deaths, and a blustery, hard-boiled humor. The characters in the play all seem to enjoy themselves, especially when they are shooting at one another. Carole Lombard, Sam Hardy, Nat Pendleton, Leo Carrillo and Zasu Pitts are featured.

Tomorrow

Broadway: Same.

Orpheum: "Successful Failure" and "You Belong to Me." William Collier, Sr., is to be seen in the opening talkie while Leo Tracy appears in the second feature picture. Both are average films, although the second one will prove the more enjoyable to most audiences. A feature of Wednesday evening's performance will be the amateur show, with Billy "Joy" Jackson in the driver's seat.

Kingston: Same.

Tips on CONTRA

Unbidden (?) Grand Slams.

By TOM O'NEIL.

Watching the screen at the grand national tournament of the United States Bridge Association during the final round of the team championship, I saw a lay-down grand slam that was not bid at either of the two tables where the hand was played.

Most of the masters, kibitzing as the progress of play in another room was shown by a stereoscopic arrangement, agreed that the grand slam was not biddable and there came a suggestion that bidding systems need a quirk or so to provide for such a hand. There was a bit of dissent about that. Here was the hand:

♥ A K 10 9 3
♦ 10 8
WEST
♠ K Q J 7 6
♥ A K 4
♦ K 7 6 2
♣ A J 9
♥ Q J 6 5 4
♣ K 10 8 6 3

The "four aces" were playing the team of the Whist Club of New York. At one table the "aces" contracted for six diamonds on the West-East cards and made even. At the other the Whist Club bid and made six spades. And so the aces lost the board, although they were in the right suit, since more losers can be discarded from the East hand on West's spades than can be discarded from the West hand on East's diamonds.

Most of the commentators agreed that had North and South at any time mentioned hearts in the auction, West could have overcalled in hearts to show a heart suit, and the grand slam could have been bid. In the tournament, however, the North-South players passed throughout.

Ely Culbertson remarked that had West been the dealer and opened with one diamond, under a new variation of his system, West would have forced with a bid of three hearts, meaning a heart void with a fit in diamonds and other strength favorable for a grand slam bid.

Julian Barth said that there could have been clear bidding inference which would have warranted a contract of seven diamonds. Over West's opening bid of one spade he would have bid two diamonds and then West would have bid three diamonds. Then East should say five spades and West should jump to seven diamonds.

From Barth's bid of diamonds followed by a raise of spades to seven spades, in Barth's opinion, West should be able to realize a diamond suit at least as good as the one he was playing in the East hand and also possession of the ace of spades. Being able to tell East should be able to deduce that club East could be discarded on seven diamonds.

Zoolochists say a large elephant eats about half a ton of hay each day and often drinks 50 gallons of water without stopping.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS and SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—When Joan Crawford starred in "Dancing Lady," two years ago the name of Nelson Eddy might have been discovered in the list of performers. He was the robust, blond chap whose baritone notes were wasted on a jazz tune in the musical finale.

Eddy had been under contract to MGM for several months before the Crawford film was made. He appeared in "Broadway to Hollywood," also, but for the most part he has been a light hidden under bushes of preparation. Not that Eddy's voice needed grooming, for it was his concert success that brought him a film contract. It was preparation for a vehicle.

The other night "Naughty Marietta," co-starring Eddy and Jeanette MacDonald, was previewed, and Nelson Eddy is a new Hollywood star. W. S. Van Dyke, directing his first musical picture, here revealed adeptness at the form, previewers agreed, while the personal and singing of Eddy registered along with the work of Miss MacDonald. The Victor Herbert operetta, with its setting largely in colonial Louisiana, is colorfully costumed, and the music—including the well-worn "Ah! Sweet Mystery of Life"—is given sparkling interpretation. Frank Morgan shines in the supporting cast, with Elsa Lanchester, Douglas Dumbrille, Joseph Cawthorn, Cecilia Parker, and several others.

Anna Sten Again

Anna Sten's third Hollywood vehicle, "The Wedding Night," has the box-office prop of Gary Cooper's name as co-star. Miss Sten plays a Polish-American daughter of prosperous tobacco-growers in Connecticut, while Cooper is the dissipated novelist who returns to his ancestral home there through financial necessity. Manya (Miss Sten) becomes the inspiration for a novel, and incidentally steals the writer's heart. The complication is that Manya is betrothed to a loutish Polish youth (Ralph Bellamy), while Tony (Cooper) is married to Lora (Helen Vinson), gay partner of his former night club life.

The plot impasse is circumnavigated on Manya's wedding night through the descent of tragedy. Samuel Goldwyn filmed two endings, one slightly sugared for box office purposes. Miss Vinson as the wife makes a difficult character sympathetic. King Vidor directed.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By CLAUDE E. JAGGER

New York, Feb. 26 (AP)—Trends were still a little cloudy in today's financial market but, here and there, firming tendencies were in evidence. The best showing among equities probably was made by the sugar company shares, which in recent sessions, have been edging forward. Gains of fractions to around a point were recorded by Central Amstar, American Crystal, Cuban-American, Great Western and South Porto Rico.

Other gainers of as much included Borg-Warner, American Safety Razor, U. S. Smelting, American Smelting, Westinghouse, General Electric, Freeport Texas, Santa Fe, Union Pacific and American Can. Homestake Mining lost 4 and such issues as U. S. Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Case, American Telephone, Consolidated Gas and Johns-Manville moved only a share in either direction. Both Baldwin Locomotive common and preferred were off 1 and 3 points, respectively, as the corporation's tentative reorganization plans were being studied.

Reinstatement Of Loughran Affirmed

propositions had been made by the board of supervisors.

Following the verdict of the Appellate Division, County Attorney Arthur B. Ewig announced that the action would be taken to the Court of Appeals, the decision of this court being just announced.

From the time that Mr. Loughran was ousted until the present he had not received pay as an employee of the highway department, the county board having chosen the present superintendent, Arthur Hallinan, to replace him. At the time of the decision of the Appellate Division it was announced that if the verdict of this court was upheld by the Court of Appeals, that Mr. Loughran would receive salary for the entire time he was fighting the case. Should such a decision occur, it was announced, the county would be paying for two superintendents of highway, being forced to make up Mr. Loughran's salary, and already paying Mr. Hallinan for his services. At that time the possibility was advanced that Mr. Hallinan would not accept a salary if the case was determined in favor of Mr. Loughran.

Babe Ruth Signs With Boston Braves Today

Boston, Feb. 26 (AP)—Charles F. Adams, vice president of the Boston Braves, announced today arrangements had been completed for George Herman "Babe" Ruth to join the Braves, under a three-year contract. Adams said Ruth would become assistant manager of the Boston National League club and a second vice president of the corporation. Negotiations have been carried on since February 23, and the transfer from the New York Yankees was completed in New York today with the consent of Colonel Ruppert, owner of the Yankees, and President Harbridge of the American League.

Rear-Admiral Acquitted

Portsmouth, Eng., Feb. 26 (AP)—An admiralty court martial today acquitted Rear-Admiral Sidney Robert Bailey, the first officer of his rank to go on trial since the World War, of responsibility for the recent collision of the battle cruisers Hood and Renown.

Farley Information

Washington, Feb. 26 (AP)—Secretary Ickes said today he would forward "in the next day or two" all information concerning Postmaster General Farley gathered by his investigators.

Havana, Feb. 26 (AP)—The strike of school teachers and pupils threatened today to expand into a general national-wide strike directed against the government of President Carlos Mendieta.

Millions of Men

Rome, Feb. 26 (AP)—Italy is able to mobilize between seven and eight million men "in the face of any eventuality," an official communique said tonight in reference to the Ethiopian and European situations.

35,000 KILLED BY AUTOS LAST YEAR

Nation Pays High Price for Swift Transportation.

Washington—Upward of 35,000 persons were killed in automobile accidents last year, the greatest price this country ever has paid in lives for swift transportation on the highways. Fatalities in 1933 totaled 30,000.

Two independent agencies agreed closely in their estimates of the 1934 accident toll, based on preliminary reports. The American Automobile association figured the year's fatalities at 35,000. The Travelers Insurance company, Hartford, Conn., said they would total at least 36,000 with around 1,000,000 injured in 300,000 accidents.

That death toll means that the number of persons killed on the highways in this one year virtually is as large as the number of enlisted men of the A. E. F. killed in action during the World War.

New York upstate round white potatoes, U. S. No. 1 in 100-lb. sacks jobbed out at 75-85 cents, while Green Mountain potatoes U. S. No. 1 in similar size packages from Long Island's south side sold at $1.05-$1.10 and from the north side 90c-$1.00.

Armored Truck Attracts Attention

An armored truck, in charge of four uniformed and capable looking guards, attracted attention in Kingston this morning as it stood parked at the rear of the Kingston Savings Bank. It is understood the truck conveyed securities from Kingston to New York. Inquiry developed the fact that many banks make use of superior and safer storage facilities for bonds, especially government bonds, and other valuable securities, that are to be had in the vaults of some of the big New York city banking institutions.

Three Men Sought In Legs Mystery

London, Feb. 26 (AP)—Three young men who lounged mysteriously in the railroad station at suburban Hounslow today entered Scotland Yard's latest dismemberment sensation—the finding of a pair of human legs.

Parent-Teacher Associations

Thursday evening the regular meeting of the Milton P. T. A. was held in the Union Free School on Sands avenue with Mrs. Herbert Bell, president, presiding. Following the regular business routine, Miss Minna Strohman, town nurse, gave a talk on Child Health in regard to school. This Miss Strohman explained begins with the physical examinations given each child beginning of the school year and its value depends on how much recognition the parents give these final reports. Last year there were 18 tons of operations in the township from the result of these school examinations which are paid for by the school districts (not the operations) but the examinations. Parents should take advantage of this information and consult their family physicians. The future health of the child should be considered. Guest speaker at the March meeting of the association will be Miss M. E. Rich, assistant head of Rural Education, New Paltz Normal School.

Watt of Albany, Mrs. Fannie and Henry Bodurtha of Agawam, Mass., and Earl Bodurtha, of Springfield, Mass. Funeral services will be held at the late residence, Finger street, Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Interment in Wiltwyck Cemetery, Kingston.

Joseph DuBois of Sawkill died Monday after a protracted illness. He was a son of the late Orville and Mary Butler DuBois. Besides his mother, he is survived by one brother, Charles M. DuBois, and two sisters, Mrs. Carl Stauble and Miss Agnes DuBois. Fraternally Mr. DuBois was a member of Kingston Council, 275, Knights of Columbus, and of St. Ann's Holy Name Society, Sawkill. Previous to his illness, he was athletically inclined and pitched for the Kingston Central baseball team. If he had lived until next month, Mr. DuBois would have been 27 years old. Politically he was a Republican and held the offices of road commissioner and town clerk of the town of Kingston. His funeral will be held Thursday morning at 9 o'clock from his late home in Sawkill, and at St. Ann's Church, where a Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of his soul. Burial will be in the family plot in St. Ann's Cemetery.

John J. Dolan died Monday evening after a short illness. He is survived by two daughters, Mary and Elizabeth, two sons, John and Marshall, two sisters, Mrs. P. J. Fogarty of Kingston and Mrs. Elizabeth Stearns of Grand Rapids, Mich., and two brothers, William and Thomas of this city. The funeral will be held from the home of his sister, Mrs. P. J. Fogarty, 29 Abbey street Thursday morning at 9 o'clock and at St. Mary's Church at 10:30 where a high Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of his soul. Interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

Mrs. Joseph Roudier of Steep Rocks, died Sunday after a prolonged illness. Besides her husband she is survived by three daughters, Dorothy, Olive, and Esther, and one son, Herbert. The funeral will be held from the Parlor of James V. Halloran Thursday morning at 10:30 and at St. Mary's Church at 11 where a requiem Mass will be offered for the repose of her soul. Interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

Peter A. Smith, 74, head of the Wright Lumber Company of New York City, died suddenly February 22, of a heart attack at the Hotel Woodward in New York City. Mr. Smith was widely known in the lumber trade in the Metropolitan district and was also well known in Woodstock, Sullivan county, and was educated in the public schools there, York.

and at Monticello Academy and graduated from Eastman College, Poughkeepsie. He went to New York City in 1882, and entered the employ of A. E. Wright as a bookkeeper. He showed a keen business acumen and later became president of the lumber company. His mother was Rachel Hardenberg Smith, a descendant of the Johannes Hardenberg who received from Queen Anne in 1708 the grant of land in New York State known as the Hardenberg Patent. For many years he was a member of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Merchants' Association, a trustee of the New York Lumber Trade Association and other organizations.

Funeral services for William Bush, who died last Friday night as a result of being struck by an auto near his home at Allaben, were held Monday afternoon at the Eugene B. Gormley funeral home in Phenicia. The Rev. Mr. Osgood of Willow was the officiating minister. The service was attended by a large number of relatives and friends. A number of beautiful floral pieces were placed near the casket as it rested in the chapel. Following the services the remains were taken to the Shantaken Rural Cemetery at Allaben for interment. A large number of friends formed the cortege to the cemetery and witnessed the body being lowered to its final resting place. As the Rev. Mr. Osgood invoked the communal Casket, he was joined by J. Hand, Vernon Peck, Charles Peck, Chester Dutcher, William Laferty and George Thompson. Surviving besides his wife, Mrs. Sarah Bush, are one daughter, Mrs. Russell Frazier, one son, Lawrence Bush, two sisters, Mrs. Warren Holded and Mrs. Thomas Peterson, and a brother, Henry Bush. Another sister, Mrs. Everett Rider, died suddenly Sunday night at her home in Walden, N. Y., as she was preparing to attend the funeral of her brother.

Mrs. Mary E. Allen Schultz, a well known and highly respected resident of this city, died Monday evening following a lengthy illness. She is survived by her husband, William W. Schultz, Sr., to whom she was united in marriage on August 28, 1873, having celebrated her 62nd anniversary last August. Of this union three sons were born, John S., of Hollis, Long Island, William W., Jr., of this city, and Allen Schultz of Jersey City. Ten grandchildren and two great grandchildren also survive. Three brothers, Charles Allen, of Jamaica, John and Wadsworth Allen of Brooklyn, and a sister, Mrs. Charles Judd, of Jamaica, also survive. She was a very devout member of the Wurts Street Baptist Church and until her illness made it impossible she attended all services regularly with her husband. She was also an ardent worker in all the social affairs of the church and aided materially in making them all a success. She was a charter member of Colonial Rebekah Lodge and served for many years as advisor in fraternal affairs. She had a very genial and happy disposition and made many friends by her thoughtfulness and kindness to others in times of need. The funeral will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock from her late home, No. 83 Hasbrouck avenue. The interment will be in Montrose cemetery.

Marlborough, Feb. 26—Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock on Monday afternoon for J. Foster Wygant, who died on Thursday afternoon, after an illness of only a week. Mr. Wygant, who was 79 years of age, was president of the First National Bank of Marlborough, an office which he has held ever since its organization in 1907. He was active in the Marlborough Presbyterian Church of which he had been an officer for 62 years. He was elected a trustee in 1873, when only 18 years of age. In 1910 he was elected an elder. He has served as a superintendent of the Sunday school for a number of years. Mr. Wygant was born in Marlborough on October 16, 1855, the son of Sarah Young and Clemence Wygant. In 1888 he married Miss Louise Clark. Mr. Wygant conducted a successful fruit farm for a number of years on what is now known as the Betts property. Early in the present century he retired, but after the organization of the bank he served actively on its staff. He was still at work every day until his last illness. Survivors are his wife, Louise Clark Wygant; four sisters, the Misses Philena and Adella of Poughkeepsie, and Fannie; one brother, J. Calvin Wygant, of Marlborough; two nephews, Clemence, of Washington, D. C., and J. Calvin Wygant, Jr., of Marlborough; and his sister, Mrs. Marion Wygant, widow of a Maryland. The Rev. Mr. LeCompte of the Presbyterian Church was in charge of the services at the Wygant home on Church street. Burial was in Cedar Hill cemetery under the direction of H. S. Tutill and Son. The pallbearers were Charles Bloomer, Edmund Carpenter, Howard Graves, Ingham Grimley, Wilbur J. Haviland and Wilson McLean.

Simon Expected To Ask Germany to Give Head To Austrian Autonomy

Austrian Foreign Minister Makes Announcement Today Concerning Rome Accords; Simon Will Confer with Hitler.

CRUX OF PEACE

British Said to Regard Matter of Utmost Importance in Connection with European Peace.

(Copyright, 1935, By Associated Press) London, Feb. 26—Egon Berger-Waldene, Austrian foreign minister, said today he expects Great Britain to request Germany's adherence to the Rome accords on Austrian independence when Sir John Simon, the British foreign secretary, meets Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler in Berlin.

The statesman said he expected Sir John would go to Germany within 10 days.

"The chief reason we came to London," said Berger-Waldene, "was to discuss the Rome accords. We have every assurance that Britain considers no other point in the Franco-British proposals for the settlement of European problems of greater importance."

He emphatically denied reports that Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg had issued "a warning to Germany" to stop the Anschluss. Berger-Waldene declared there had been no exchanges with Germany and insisted reports that Germany had offered Austria a new plan for a separate agreement to end Austro-German difficulties were untrue.

"We can carry on no negotiations with Germany," he said, "until the Rome accords have been completed. After this is done there may be further mutual agreements between Austria and separate neighboring countries. This, of course, means that we might then talk with Germany."

The foreign minister ended speculation and various conflicting reports on what had been the subject of his declaration, "discussion of these proposals occupied nearly all of our time in London. We are going away totally satisfied with Great Britain's attitude toward peace in central Europe as strongly as we do."

Prior to the interview, the Chancellor Schuschnigg and Berger-Waldene addressed a press conference at the Austrian legation. The chancellor disposed of rumors that the Hapsburg restoration question had been discussed.

"Journalists like to speak sometimes of the restoration in Austria," he said. "We have pointed out that our main concern lies quiet in another direction. One restoration of greater importance to us is the restoration of our economic situation."

WIN Soon Let Contract. Preparations are under way to let the contract for paving the some six miles of road between Walker Valley and Ellenville, according to Engineer D. V. Z. Bogert of New Paltz. Mr. Bogert said this morning that the bidding job had been accepted and that the roadwork was now ready for laying concrete with the probability that contracts would be let and the work taken up this coming summer.

PIPE LINE FOLLOWS OLD CARAVAN TRAIL

Taps Wells in Mosul Field in Northern Iraq.

Washington.—One of the world's largest oil pools—the Mosul field, in northern Iraq, where ancient Assyrians stood in awe before burning rocks—now is linked directly with the Mediterranean sea by one of the world's most spectacular pipe lines.

"On a map of the Near East this newest of trade routes looks like a huge letter 'Y,' because it is really a double pipe line," says the National Geographic society. "Both tubes begin at Kirkuk, in northern Iraq; but 155 miles to the west, near the little desert village of Haditha, the two part company. One pipe strikes nearly due west 376 miles to Tripoli, in the French mandate of Syria; the other runs southwest along age-old caravan trails 463 miles to Haifa, in British-controlled Palestine."

"More than 15,000 workmen have been engaged for nearly three years on this huge enterprise, constructed by American, British and French engineers. Although there are longer pipe lines in the United States, none of them has been laid under the difficult conditions that faced the builders of the Iraq-Mediterranean project."

Through Barren Deserts. "Barren unpeopled deserts, differences in altitude from more than a half mile above sea level to 850 feet below sea level, wandering bands of hostile tribesmen, total lack of railroads for transport, and only desert tracks for the huge motor trucks carrying the pipe—these are a few of the problems faced by the men on the job."

"Under a concession obtained from the Iraq government, oil companies of four nations—the United States, France, the Netherlands, and Great Britain—will share the profits of the enterprise. The new line is of greatest importance to France, which has no oil of its own."

"The Mosul oil field, source of the thick black fluid which will pour through the new line and into the holds of tank ships at Haifa and at Tripoli, is a rectangular area about ten miles long and two miles wide, a short distance northwest of Kirkuk. Prospecting is still going on, and new wells are being sunk at regular intervals. The oil is piped from wells to the trunk line, and powerful pumps push it along the first stage of its journey. The big tubes pass under both the historic Tigris and Euphrates rivers, and then strike out into the dusty desert, a desolate region inhabited by nomadic tribes."

"The northern and southern lines branch off at the village of Haditha. The northern line passes close to the ruins of Zenobia's desert capital, Palmyra, and thence over a mountain range 2,800 feet high to the valley of the Orontes, south of Hama. It reaches the Mediterranean three miles north of Chateau Raymond, of Crusader fame, today the port of Tripoli."

Follows Old Trade Routes. "The southern section passes wholly through territory under British mandate after leaving Iraq. From Haditha it continues southwest to the high-walled stockade of famous Rutbah Wells, where travelers by airplane, motor car, and caravan, following the old trade routes between East and West often halt for fuel, food, or lodging. Here halts, too, the palatial Damascus-to-Bagdad pullman bus, which, with its 65 feet of length, its 18 wheels, its buffet and bathroom, represents the largest, motorized transport in the world. Its Diesel engines consume the crude product of the Mosul field."

"In Trans-Jordan the southern section traverses the lava country, one of the most desolate regions in the world, consisting of lava boulders and rocks, with many extinct volcanoes and only the sparsest of vegetation. Thence it crosses the famous pilgrim railroad which leads toward Mecca, and descends into the valley of the Jordan. In 15 miles the pipe line drops from 2,700 feet above sea level to 850 feet below, presenting perhaps the greatest problem in pipe line construction in the history of crude oil transportation. After crossing the high-cultivated plain of Esdraelon the line reaches the sea on the Bay of Acre, near the spot where the Crusaders made their last stand against Saladin and his Saracens, a few miles north of the modern port of Haifa."

"To keep the thick oil in motion from Kirkuk to the sea there are 12 powerful pumping stations, their positions depending upon the lie of the land. A revolving pipe cleaner is used to free the inside of the big tubes from debris. At certain points valves can be opened, the cleaner inserted, and then driven to the next valve by heavy pressure."

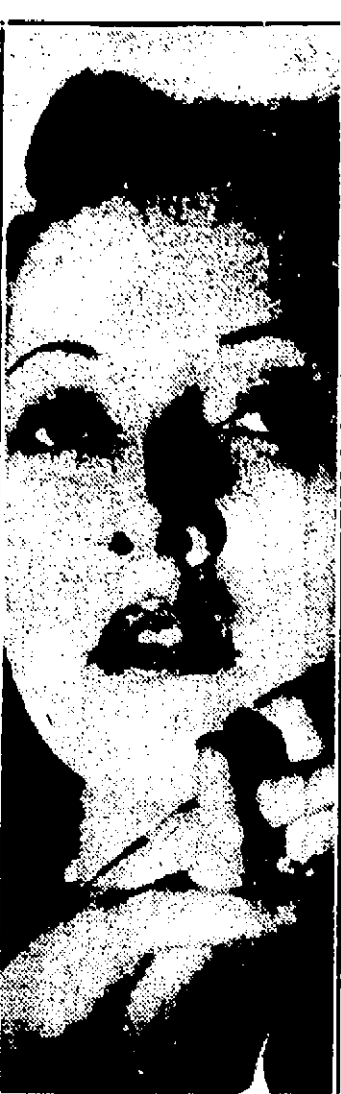

"The annual throughput of the double line is expected to be about 4,000,000 tons. The pipe line will eventually pay for itself, saving both time and expense of ships which once had to sail around the Arabian peninsula, and, in addition, pay duties at the Suez canal."

124 Families Live In Low Rental Homes

Washington, Feb. 26 (AP)—A year and a half after PWA began administering a $150,000,000 fund to provide low-rental housing for small-income people, officials disclosed today that 124 families actually have been housed in such projects.

Many more will be housed, they indicated, when projects under way or planned are completed.

One project has been completed and two others partly finished, so that they furnish some accommodation. All three are limited dividend enterprises carried on by private firms with the aid of the PWA funds. Three others of this type are under construction, and a seventh has been approved.

Construction has been started on one federal project—Techwood, at Atlanta, Georgia. Bids have been received on one other—University, also at Atlanta. A total of 37 of these projects have been authorized.

PWA officials are in the midst of preparations for an effort to put an expanded housing program in the forefront of the $4,000,000,000 work program if such a plan meets with necessary approval.

Just now, however, borrowings from the PWA housing division to take out relief funds while the huge work and relief bill is tied up in the senate have left the housing division with insufficient funds to finance more than one-sixth of the projects authorized.

TO THE PUBLIC—

We have added to our line of high quality dairy products—CERTIFIED MILK and VITAMIN D SOFT-CURD CERTIFIED MILK.

CERTIFIED MILK

CERTIFIED MILK comes to you in its natural raw state. It is produced under the most sanitary conditions. The herd producing it is under the direct supervision of a veterinarian, constantly. Only the healthiest of cows are used. The dairymen are examined weekly by a physician to make sure they are in perfect health.

Vitamin-D Soft-Curd Certified Milk

The VITAMIN D SOFT CURD Certified Milk is the same high quality as the straight Certified but has added advantages. This milk is SOFT-CURD. EASIER TO DIGEST. Can be used with comfort by many folks who cannot enjoy the benefits of regular milk. This milk is especially valuable in all RACHITIC conditions. (Note: Wherever milk is used for medicinal purposes the family physician should be consulted. Greater benefits will be secured through his guidance.)

Every need for which milk is properly intended is fully met by one or the other of these Milks. The uniform quality and the proper fat content make them especially valuable for infants and all cases where a dependable easy-to-digest food is desired.

This Milk is produced by the Arden Farms Dairy Company who have been producing the highest grade milk for over thirty-five years. We recommend Arden Farms Milk to anyone desiring NATURAL RAW MILK IN ITS FINEST FORM.

Your order for Certified or Vitamin D Soft-Curd Certified Milk will receive careful and prompt attention.

Legionnaires Beat Clinton, 26-16, Are All Set For Buffalo, Wednesday

The difference between amateur and pro rules will be exemplified on the Auditorium court tomorrow night and in such a manner that fans will be in a position to judge the difference. In the first game, the Rose Bowl Lions and the Fuller Clements will play amateur rules with Coach Kise of the High School handling the whistle. The second game will bring together the Buffalo Bisons and the Kingston Legionnaires in the New York State League championship play-off and of course, New York State League pro rules will govern this contest. With a powerful array of gridiron talent the Lions will oppose the Fuller's Clements, sporting a roster of Meyers, Capt. Dykes, Carpio, Van Etten, Storms, Purvis, Teetzel and Hornbeck. In an effort to bolster their team work, the Clements worked out on the Auditorium court this morning with Pop Morcenweek, Carl Husta and Pip Koehler assisting. Pop took part of the squad with Husta and Koehler instructing the guards and forwards.

In the second big game of the evening, the Buffalo Bisons will undoubtedly give the Legionnaires plenty of trouble. In the sport parlance, the Buffalonians are "hot." They will bring their best lineup in an effort to take over the Colonial City aggregation.

With two big games in prospect, a banner crowd should be in attendance. Both sets of bleachers are erected to take care of the crowd. Reserved seats are now on sale at the Legion Building.

Legionnaires Beat Clintons.

With Pip Koehler playing a remarkably fine game, the Kingston Legionnaires swung back into the win column Sunday night at Yonkers when they defeated the crack Clinton quintet at Soco Hall, 26 to 16. The impressive team work of the Legionnaires had the crowd cheering them on to victory in the final period.

The Clintons had their regular lineup of Honey Russell and a sensational budding star, Dr. H. H. H. forward positions with Entrup, the Union City Reds new centerman, in the pivot position, and Hinchin and George Bergan at guards. Captain Husta not only held the sensational Dratch to a field and a foul but also made nine points to lead both clubs in scoring. Big Bill Hamilton, while not breaking into the scoring column, played Entrup in fine fashion and put on a high-class team-work exhibition.

The score:

Kingston.		Clinton.
Kurtky, rf.	2	1	5
Koehler, lf.	4	0	8
Hamilton, c.	0	0	0
Husta, c.	4	1	5
Shimek, lg.	2	0	4
	12	2	26

Yonkers.		Buffalo.
Russell, rf.	1	2	4
Dratch, lf.	1	1	3
Entrup, c.	1	0	2
Hinchin, c.	3	0	6
Bergan, lg.	0	1	1
	6	4	16

Score at end of first half: Kingston 12, Yonkers 7. Fouls committed: Kingston 10, Yonkers 8. Referee, Grieve (American League).

Two Year Old Trotters Training In Florida

Orlando, Fla., Feb. 26 (P)—Babes of the grand circuit, the two year old trotters and pacers are learning their lessons these days at the Seminole Driving Club, winter headquarters of the standard breeds, and this kindergarten for horses is one of the most interesting sports Florida has to offer.

The park itself is a unique spot, a sort of glorified boarding school for horsemen, owned by W. L. Reynolds, the tobacco millionaire, and turned over to them for their own purposes. Today there are 100 horses in training, 40 of them two year olds who never have raced.

The greatest drivers of the trotting tracks are here—Ben White, a magician developing two year olds; Will Dickerson, Fred Egan and Tom Berry. White has 44 head in training, among them the two year old champion, Silver King, who already is the winter book favorite for the $50,000 annual Hambletonian at Goshen, N. Y., and Bill Strang, a lovely gentle brown two year old who has done the fastest mile in training this year, 2:21.

Egan has two fine candidates in training, Broke and Tillie Tonka, daughter of Minnie Tonka. Berry's star is True Hanover, and Dickerson has a potential two year old champion in Frisco Mike, one of the highest priced yearlings of the year.

Jack Torrance Breaks World's Shotput Mark

Charlotte, N. C., Feb. 24 (P)—A new world's record for the indoor shot put was tentatively credited today to Jack Torrance, star Olympic star from Louisiana State University and already undisputed holder of the outdoor record, for his feat in tossing the weight 52 feet 1 1/2 inches in the Charlotte indoor games last night.

Torrance's throw will be submitted to National A. U. officials for approval. Torrance, who has won three and four quarters in the previous record held by Jim Thorpe, of the New York Athletic Club.

Jockey Gets Bonus.

Los Angeles, Feb. 25 (P)—On his first holiday after riding Auster to victory in the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap, Jockey George Wood went riding—not on a horse but in some new motor car, Auster's owner, Fred M. Alger, gave Wood a $10,000 bonus after the race. Yesterday Wood spent the day shopping at Los Angeles tailor shops and clothing stores.

Clinton Avenue Aces Will Play Z.N.P. Five At White Eagle Hall

The weekly basketball attraction at White Eagle Hall tonight will feature the Clinton Avenue Aces and the Z. N. P. quintet. Last week the Z. N. P.'s defeated the Fuller Clements and will be intent tonight on handing up another victory on their already impressive record. The Z. N. P. lineup will include: Stump, Kieffer and Munson, forwards; Gelsler, center, and Kelly, Bittner and C. Kieffer in the back court. The Aces will have Teetzel and Rosen, forwards; Evers, center, and Rifenburg, Hyatt and Haines as guards.

There will be two prelims: At 7:15 the Holy Cross girls will play the Woodstock lassies, and at 8:15 the White Eagle Juniors will take on the Collegians. The main game will start at 9:15.

Brooklyn Increases Minor Affiliations

New York, Feb. 25 (P)—The Brooklyn Dodgers increased their minor league affiliations to three today with announcement of acquisition of the Reading club of the New York-Penn League this season.

Bob Quinn, Dodger business manager, has been negotiating for the franchise for several weeks, but did not close the deal until late yesterday, when he signed a lease for the use of the Reading ball park.

"We probably will take over, or form a close working agreement with still another club right away," Quinn said. "From now on we are developing our own ball players. We are tired of spending money scouting minor league 'timber' only to find it belongs to some other fellow when we try to buy it."

The Dodgers already had working connections with Sacramento in the Pacific Coast League and Dayton in the Middle Atlantic loop.

Quinn said the Dodgers plan to send some of their likeliest youngsters to Reading and that everything will be done to assure the Eagles a winning club.

"I'm leaving Wednesday for Orlando, Fla. to go over the situation with Manager Casey Stengel," he said. "We will not decide who will be the manager at Reading until we get Casey's views. Of course, it will have to be somebody who can and will carry out Stengel's policies."

Teams Are On Home Stretch

New York, Feb. 26 (P)—The National Professional Hockey League campaign, rapidly reaching the close of the season, has the fans wondering who'll finish at the top of the American division.

The Toronto Maple Leafs, mainly by virtue of a fast get away, have clinched honors in the International group, but in the other division the New York Rangers, the Chicago Blackhawks and the Boston Bruins are staging one of those story-book stretch drives to get to the wire first.

Tonight's games, however, had the Bruins in a good spot to pass the Blackhawks while the Rangers will have to be in high form to continue to set the pace.

The Bruins entertain the St. Louis Eagles tonight, and a Boston victory appears likely. The Chicago Blackhawks meet the Toronto Maple Leafs on home ice with signs pointing to a Toronto victory since the Hawks have dropped four decisions to the Leafs in five starts.

The Rangers will carry on their drive for a first place position in the Stanley Cup playoffs in Montreal against the Maroons.

Fuller Fight!

Back in 1932 Sammy Fuller, a squat little Italian fighting man from Boston, was bounding along the fast highway at a nice pace until his handlers, in an over-ambitious moment, signed him up to meet Jimmy McLarnin in New York.

It proved a disastrous match, for when Fuller tried to concede height, weight and reach to McLarnin the thumping Irishman blasted him out of the picture in the eighth round.

Most everyone guessed that Sammy was through as a first class fighter after that. For, they reasoned, when McLarnin gave a fighter a thorough going-over, he seldom rallied to anything approaching his earlier form. There were plenty of examples to bear out this belief: Sammy Mandell, Al Singer, Ruby Goldstein and Sid Terris, to mention a few.

That judgment seemed sound enough, for Fuller dropped right after fight. When Billy Petrolle and Barney Ross beat him critics were convinced. Too bad that a career which held so much promise should be halted when the fighter should be arriving at his peak, but the sensible thing for Sammy to do would be to hang up his gloves and let it go at that before he became a mere punching bag.

But Sammy kept trying. The spark was gone so he met with only fair success. Bouts became harder and harder to find until he finally decided to give up the ghost.

Veteran, But Not Shop-Worn

His retirement was short lived, just about long enough to rest, up before the old urge got the better of him and forced him back into ring harness. Before he knew it he was launched on a comeback and gaining momentum with each start.

Today, at 29, Fuller finds himself on the threshold of his biggest opportunity. A veteran, to be sure, but he has had only 70 fights, starting in 1925. There is no reason why he should be burned out or too shop-worn to make the grade this time.

He is matched with Lou Ambers for a bout in Madison Square Garden for what the New York boxing commission terms the world's lightweight championship. Ambers was named No. 1 challenger by the New York body and when Barney Ross refused to accept a bout with Lou within the prescribed time the commission declared his lightweight title null and void. With the same gesture they designated the coming Ambers-Fuller bout a championship match.

Others Have Come Back

Of course Barney Ross will continue to be recognized as the lightweight boss until someone beats him in the ring regardless of the outcome of the bout. But at the same time should Fuller win it would move him into a position where he would be generally rated as having first rights to a chance at the crown.

The opportunity coming late in his career as it does, it seems fair enough to assume that the little Italian veteran will be primed to make the fight of his life against Ambers. He isn't likely to waste this golden opportunity for he must realize that it is a case of now or never as far as he is concerned.

The little matter of a single knockout doesn't weigh too heavily against his chances of success. Some of our greatest ring champions had to overcome early setbacks equally damaging.

Benny Leonard, ranked by many as one of the greatest lightweights in ring history, felt the sting of a knockout before he climbed the heights. Johnny Dundee was stopped by Willie Jackson in a single round. Even Jack Dempsey was counted out early in the game.

Major League Clubs Off For Camps, "Good For A Few More Years"-Ruth

New York, Feb. 26 (P)—Babe Ruth and Paul (Duffy) Dean head the list of unsigned athletes as the 16 major league clubs speed up the annual spring movement toward Florida and California.

Only four clubs will pitch camp with a completely signed squad. They are the Cleveland Indians, the Brooklyn Dodgers, the Boston Braves and the Chicago Cubs. The others lack one to nine men.

Whether Ruth will spend another season with the Yankees or go through with his threat to hang up his spikes may be decided when he returns tomorrow from a hunting trip and goes into a conference with Col. Jake Ruppert, Yankees owner.

Yesterday Ruth told a group of 500 homeless men at an experimental agricultural colony in Orange county that he had "definitely" decided to play baseball for several years because "I played in Japan demonstrated I am good for several more years."

Paul Dean is not regarded as a holdout in St. Louis. He said repeatedly he is satisfied with his new contract and it may be he is merely waiting to deliver it in person at

Walter Hagen Wins Another Golf Crown

Tampa, Fla., Feb. 26 (P)—Walter Hagen, winner of many golf crowns during 23 years of campaigning, was mighty proud today of his new title: champion of the Gasparilla open tournament. It was his first victory in the past two years.

Hagen took $700 first prize money with a card of 280—even par for 72 holes against a field of 115.

Second place went to Clarence Clark of Bloomfield, N. J., whose 45-foot putt on the 11th and chipped out of a bunker to within three feet of the cup on the final hole. Ky. Lafoon of Chicago, finished third with 282.

The defending titleholder, Denny Shute, of Philadelphia, former British open champion—shot 288.

A Milwaukee social center instructor almost knocked himself out when he struck his own nose with his fist while demonstrating a stunt.

ATHLETICS DECIDE IT'S SPRING

Rhinebeck A. C. Quintet Will Clash With New York University Violets

On the Rhinebeck High School court Saturday night, basketball fans will have an opportunity to witness one of the top notch amateur court attractions of the current season. For the feature game the Rhinebeck A. C. will play the New York University quintet. The Violets will be present with their regular lineup, including Gross, Rosen, Maidman, Schulman and Rubinstein. These boys form one of the outstanding collegiate teams in the country and they won 27 straight games before dropping one. They have been packing them in at Madison Square Garden all season. The Rhinebeck Ave will have their hands full on Saturday evening, but they too have scored an impressive record this season and the battle should be one worth watching.

The preliminary game will bring together the two outstanding Junior quintets in the Co. 8 vicinity, when the R. A. C. Juniors clash with the Majestics. The latter team has won 56 games and lost only four this year.

The prelim will start at 7:45 and the main attraction will follow immediately. There will be dancing after the games.

K. H. S. Will Play Beacon Wednesday

The Kingston High basketball team, holders of second place in the DUSO League, swings into the last week of its 1935 schedule Wednesday evening when they will play Beacon High School. Friday, the Beacon basketballs will close their season at Newburgh Free Academy in a non-DUSO tilt.

Little is known of Beacon's record during the current season. Kingston's record of victories is all against DUSO teams, having won over every DUSO team except the champions, Port Jervis. The Kiammen lost every other non-league game.

Kingston's lineup for tomorrow night's contest will probably consist of Ed and Charlie Bock, forwards; Jack Linden, center, and Lou Glenn and Ed Bahl, guards. Charlie Bock is the DUSO League's leading scorer. Kingston should meet with little trouble in taking over Newburgh Friday night as the Academicians have one of the poorest teams in their history. In the official DUSO League game at Newburgh, Kingston playing a ragged brand of basketball, barely edging out the Shawmen in a last quarter rally by a margin of one field. The game will be played on the local court.

Prince Mike Romanoff, Last of the Gergusons, Bends Broadway Ears

New York, Feb. 26 (AP).—Broadway and Park avenue, who knew him "when," bent a fond ear today to latest accounts of the goings-on of an old-time favorite, "Prince Mike," the last of the Gergusons.

Prince Mike, pretender to Romanoff heritance but known in official circles as plain Harry Gerguson, a Hillshoro, Ill., boy, is designated the villain in a $500,000 conspiracy suit by Mrs. Wilma E. Gould against her husband's relatives for alleged efforts to break a $450-a-month separation agreement.

Gerguson, Mrs. Gould testified in her initial appearance in court, drugged her and carried her to his apartment where she said he created a compromising situation for the benefit of her husband and detectives who burst into the apartment.

Her husband is Edward B. Gould, wealthy furniture manufacturer of Seneca, N. Y.

She is bringing the action against her brother-in-law, former Congressman Norman J. Gould of Seneca; his wife, Mrs. Anna Gould; an attorney, and a private detective agency.

The ears of "Prince Mike" cringed yesterday as he leaned on his cane and heard Mrs. Gould relate what happened after she drank a demitasse at dinner with him. "I heard a great noise and knocking," she said, "my head was aching terribly. I found I was all wound up in bedclothes and couldn't move. I saw Romanoff run to open the door. He was partly undressed. Suddenly the room seemed full of people. They pulled the clothes off me and I heard one man say: 'Do you recognize this woman as your wife?' Then I saw my husband."

Gerguson has enlivened life both on Broadway and Park avenue since he arrived here in 1923 as Prince Obolenski, and then in 1932 as a stowaway on the De France, making a top-deck dog kennel his accommodation.

Lately, he has been busy in night clubs and played in a musical comedy. During the interim he has been the object of constant attention by immigration officials, arrested on numerous occasions, indicted by a federal grand jury for illegal entry into the United States, in jail a couple of times—the last a few months ago on a worthless check charge—and wine and dined at odd times as "Russian royalty."

At present he is under probation from federal court.

Old-Fashioned Dance

A group of women, not all the women as was previously announced, of the Elmendorf Street Church will sponsor an old-fashioned dance in the church hall on Wednesday evening.

South Dakota's rural credit agency, established in 1917, had liabilities of $54,407,053.52 at the end of 1934 and assets of $40,656,736.43, its director reported.

Desperado Hunted

MARLBOROUGH

Marlborough, Feb. 26.—John F. Kramer, a young farmer who lives near Lattintown, is operating a small sawmill. He is equipped to turn logs into boards for building, and is doing a good bit of business for local wood lot owners.

The Lions Club of Marlborough will meet Tuesday evening at the Blossom Inn in Milton.

Mr. and Mrs. William Quinn became the parents of a daughter on Thursday morning. Dr. W. B. Harris is the physician in charge.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Talasco became the parents of a son on Saturday morning. The young man has been named Thomas Joseph. Dr. Harris is in charge.

Bart McGowan, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. P. McGowan, left on Monday for the Everglades, Florida, and expect to be gone until the first of May.

On Friday, March 1, at the home of Mrs. William Elges, the West Marlborough Missionary Society will hold an all day quilting bee. A covered lunch will be served.

Mrs. William Fowler of Church street has been ill at her home this week.

Mrs. Walter Rann is visiting relatives in Cohoes this week.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the American Legion will hold a caterer's supper from 5 to 8 at the Memorial Building on March 12. All are invited.

CAPITAL NEWS

HOLLISTER STURGES, JR.

Albany, Feb. 25.—(Special)—

More than the usual run of politicians will be in town this week because Thursday night is reserved for the 34th annual dinner given by the Legislative Correspondents' Association. Among the guests who will attend are Governor Herbert H. Lehman, former Governor Alfred E. Smith, Postmaster General James A. Farley, and Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr.

It has been the custom of the newspaper men to sponsor this occasion each year since 1900. At this time a political farce is given by the reporters, at the politicians' expense.

That same evening Mrs. Lehman is entertaining the wives of the newspaper men as well as the women reporters at the Executive Mansion. There will be a costume party, similar, perhaps, to Mrs. Roosevelt's recent party.

All Quiet.

Contrary to anticipation, the Senate chamber witnessed little excitement last night, and the wheels of the Democratic machine rode smoothly over the evening calendar, passing a number of bills, and laying aside a few until a future date.

However, those that had been anticipated as trouble-makers did not appear on the calendar at this time and have in store the promised debate that should set to wagging the leading tongues over such controversial measures as the Nunah oath bill, the Twomey anti-mutual bill, and the Field aviation measure. Senator George R. Fearon, minority Republican leader, was suddenly called away from the session for funeral of a partner's daughter. He will probably return on Wednesday. Ranking Republican Perley A. Pritchard will act as leader during Mr. Fearon's absence.

Police Hours.

Senator Arthur H. Wicks of Kingston introduced a bill last night to limit the hours of duty for police officials to eight a day, and thus amend the laws of 1911 in this respect. Mr. Wicks was exceptionally busy last night as he engaged in short conversations with his constituents of both parties and hustled about the chamber generally as if just to check up on the very latest developments of party trends.

Promise.

John J. McNaboe, New York Democrat, and only Senator to be chairman of two committees, sponsored two important pieces of legislation last night. The first provided for boys enrolled in the CCC Camps to be entitled to vote, which, strange enough, is forbidden at present. His second and widely-voiced measure declares a public policy against breach of promise suits; it would place a definite time limit of 60 days on any such action, and after this period the would-be cash-and-carry plaintiff is out of luck.

New Building.

Later this afternoon there will be a meeting of representatives whose districts fall in the third judicial district for the purpose of deciding on a proposed new building for the appellate division and also for a tax policy. Senator Wicks and Assemblyman J. Edward Conway will attend; the former representing the counties of Ulster, Delaware and Greene; Mr. Conway as a representative of Ulster.

Foreign Scare.

Senator Edward J. Coughlin, Brooklyn Democrat, has introduced a resolution calling on Congress to make an investigation of the influences and propaganda that come from Europe to undermine the principles of a Democratic form of government that is supposed to be taught in our educational institutions. Believing that this influence will jeopardize the basis on which this country's government was founded, Senator Coughlin feels that his request is a timely measure to have Congress assist in this matter. His resolution is resting with the senate committee on finance.

The Week

A legislative snarl will trouble the lawmakers before the week advances much further. In the first place their efforts will be taxed rather severely by the large number of public hearings scheduled for the next three days. Then too on certain measures that are of prominence there is no safe indication that the Democratic-controlled majority will stick together. This was evidenced last night when several Democrats sided with the minority on lesser issues backed by one of their own number as introducer. Yet the differences were reciprocal, as some Republicans favored these same measures, so where the majority lost some of its own votes it picked up others from the opposing side.

The important measures have not boiled down yet to strict partisan-alike attitudes, although some of the bills are going to blister the hands that grab them out of the legislative hopper just like the well-known hot potato. The legislators do not have asbestos gloves for this protection in some cases, either.

After The Storm The Calm

Leader of the Senate John J. Duane, who last week caused the first serious political cloud to overshadow official Albany, and caused a blast of rebuke to come from the Governor's office, was unusually silent at last night's session. As a rule he is ever on his feet leading the band of attack, if not starting it. Perhaps it was due to the general lack of pep the Senators usually exhibit on Monday nights, or perhaps he is laying low for a while. He had a good audience, too, as the galleries flanking either wall of the chamber were packed with curious and hopeful on-lookers.

Job Ward Democrats.

The regular meeting of the Job Ward Democratic Club will be held at the club rooms this evening at 8:15. All members are requested to be present.

Catskill Club Sang To Large Audience

The auditorium of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church was filled to capacity on Monday evening, to hear the concert given by the Catskill Glee Club and soloists, Roland Heermance, conducting the club numbers.

The numbers on the program were well chosen and entertaining and was made the more interesting because of the prefatory remarks by Charles J. Bagley of Catskill, for so many years an active and honored member of the club and now an honorary member. Mr. Bagley not only announced the program but also had a few pertinent words to say about each number, adding much to the enjoyment of the evening.

The membership of the club has increased considerably, adding several young voices, and all of the men obviously thoroughly enjoy singing in the Catskill Glee Club under the leadership—we wish we might say "baton"—of Mr. Heermance. Having learned to keep closer to pitch and to enunciate more distinctly, the singers and their conductor are bound to also learn the beauty of the pianissimo and mezzo forte as offering the artistic contrast to an fortissimo that is needed as an emphasis and climax rather than a standard tone volume throughout an work.

The opening group of songs, all heartily applauded, were, the English song, "Jerusalem," by Parry, sung in unison; "To an Old Woman" by Robertson; and the pratical song, "The Jolly Roger," by Robertson. Miss Evelyn Freer, accompanist of the club, was then introduced and played admirably Leachetky's arrangement, left hand only, of "The Andante Finale," of the opera "Lucia di Lamamoor". Her second number was the Rachmaninoff "Prelude in C Sharp Minor." In response to the continued and hearty applause, Miss Freer played an encore number.

Another group of songs—"The Yaller Girl that Winked at Me," by McLeod; "Passing By" by Purcell, and "Old King Cole" (to date) offered sharp contrasts and showed the versatility of the Glee Club. Thoroughly enjoyed and appreciated for the excellence of his music, was Vernon Miller, trumpeter. Mr. Miller, whose tone production is accurate and excellent, played admirably "Milk and Honey," and "Believe Me if All Those Endearing Young Charms," and was obliged to respond to the applause by playing an encore number.

After Mr. Miller's performance, Mr. Bagley became, for the time being far more than the "announcer," he became the center of attraction, as he gave a "Magical Interlude," an exceedingly clever sleight-of-hand performance. Of all of the clever stunts, the last one, "Shooting an invisible bullet into an invisible radio," in which he was assisted by the ladies from the audience, accomplished the impossible feat to the satisfaction of all present and was fascinating. He also had a mind to the present banking situation in relation to his performance, all very cleverly put across. Mr. Bagley, whose courteous friendliness and long-standing in the club endears him alike to club members and audience, was given heartiest and most thoroughly deserved applause.

He was followed by the pastor, the Rev. Mr. McGrath, who thanked the singers and soloists, including Mr. Bagley, for the delightful evening of music, and announced the taking of the silver offering. After singing heartily, "Bless this House," by Brahms; "Home on the Range," and "Glory" by Cadman, the club gave place to their conductor, Roland Heermance, who was given a very cordial welcome, and much applause after singing, "The Old Black Mare," by Squire; "With-out a Song," and "Stone-Cracker John," by Coates. As an encore Mr. Heermance sang "Because". The concert was brought to a close by the singing of Brahms' famous "Wegelied," sung in German; "Dear Land of Home," (Finlandia) by Sibellus and Owen's splendid "Laudamus".

Moses Gulesian Home Was Amnesia Victim

Newton, Mass., Feb. 26 (AP)—Moses H. Gulesian, 71, former real estate dealer, returned to his New York home today after being located last night at the Bowery Mission, New York, his son-in-law, James L. Beck of Newton, told the Associated Press.

Gulesian was met at the Bowery station by his wife, Mrs. Grace Gulesian, and his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Beck, of Newton.

Beck said his father-in-law had been placed on a Boston-bound train by officials of the Bowery Mission and made the trip to Boston unaccompanied.

He said Gulesian was obviously a victim of amnesia. He could give no account of his movements since leaving Boston last Tuesday.

The son-in-law explained that he apparently "did not come to until he told officials his name in the Bowery Mission."

Beck said the family did not want to question him as he was in a weakened condition. A physician was summoned to examine him.

Gulesian, himself, later explained that the mission in which he was located was the same one in which he had been given shelter upon his arrival in this country 52 years ago. He said he regained his memory after hearing a pianist at the mission play a composition entitled "Washington," which had been composed by his wife. He had asked the pianist to play the music after he had heard her playing other tunes. As soon as he "came to," he said, he told officials of the mission who he was.
